

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

Background of the Study

Language in the Educational system has made its significant part in the characteristic forms of Childhood development. It is believed to play a central role in developing the learning of students and academic achievement (Bashar, 2017). However, the use of Mother Tongue in the Educational system has been a highly debated policy where people are concern about its long-term effect on students, especially on this globalized world where English is the standard language (Namanya, 2017).

In the present Educational system where majority of the countries all over the world uses Mother Tongue as medium of instruction, multilingual students in a classroom is really inevitable. Choosing what medium of instruction is a challenging factor for the teachers because it is still unclear if it would be based on the majority of the students using the same first languages (Nyika, 2014).

Countries entire the world have their own characteristics of language where through this they can understand each other and communicate effectively. Some may call it as their home language or

Chapter 1 Introduction To Qualitative Research Methods:

Research Methods in Pharmacy Practice Zubin Austin, Jane Sutton, 2018-02-21 This is a comprehensive guide to applying research methods to practice problems. It uses case-based examples and activities rooted in practice to support development of knowledge, skills, and confidence in applying evidence-based research methods. An array of different methodologies and qualitative/quantitative methods are described. Examples of topics include distinction between methodologies and methods, ethics protocols, as well as design, implementation, data analysis, interpretation of findings using methods such as surveys, interviews, focus groups, observational research, database mining, text and document analysis, quality improvement, PDSA cycles, economic cost-benefit evaluations. Perfect for MPharm students doing their research thesis but relevant to all bioscience students undertaking research projects. Use of pharmacy practice case examples in community, hospital, ambulatory, primary care, and other settings throughout. Examples of how to tackle a research question from different perspectives, e.g. which is the best way to answer each question and why. Inter-professional practice and research emphasized. Self-assessment and self-reflection questions to help readers confirm their understanding/learning. A one-stop research method teaching resource for faculty. Health Promotion & Education Research Methods Randy Cottrell, James McKenzie, 2011. The main objective in writing a thesis or dissertation is to teach students how to conduct research in a planned and systematic way. Health Promotion Education Research Methods Second Edition provides a comprehensive and thorough presentation of the skills and processes needed to complete high-quality research. Students will receive an overview of the different approaches to research methods and are introduced to the five-chapter thesis or dissertation format. Each chapter contains information relevant to the writing of one or more chapters of a thesis or dissertation. The Fundamentals Of Research Methodology Dr. Gyanendra Rawat, Dr. Deepika Sharma, Dr. Phatangare Prashant Ashok, Dr. Vikas Bairathi, 2024-02-02. Doing anything to gain new knowledge or verify previously held claims is research. By discovering, interpreting, and developing new techniques and apparatuses, the end goal of research is to enhance people's understanding of the natural world. Methodology in research describes the many ways in which studies are carried out. This method is also known as gathering information for scientific studies. Methodology in research refers to the study of how studies are designed and executed. Perhaps the process and its results might be better understood with this data. As part of doing research, one must first identify an issue, formulate a plan, collect data, analyse it, and then write up their findings. Research may manifest in a wide variety of ways, from surveys and experiments to theoretical analyses and actual investigations. In conducting a study, critical considerations include the ethical standards observed and the authenticity and reliability of the research data. Assuming precise data analysis, one reaches a significant milestone in the research process. To assess the likelihood of specific attributes, survey and scale methods can be employed once appropriate research questions have been formulated. Research protocols, which may include conducting an experiment, are the following stage. Research Methods

A Model for the Growth of the Evangelical Churches in Canada Robert Elkington,2012-02-29 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2010 in the subject Theology Practical Theology course Practical Theology language English abstract Statistical evidence is clear the Evangelical churches in North America are in decline There are many reasons for this decline not least of which is the reality that the North American Evangelical churches now exist in a post Christendom milieu A new ontology and and a new praxis are needed to address this new reality However the model is perhaps not new but merely a return to the intended purpose for the church since its inception in Jerusalem over 2000 years ago This article explores a fourfold missional model for the North American church moving from liminality through communitas and emergence to mission

Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods Steven J. Taylor,Robert Bogdan,Marjorie L. DeVault,2015-09-04 An informative real world guide to studying the why of human behavior Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods is a practical comprehensive guide to the collection and presentation of qualitative data Unique in the market this book describes the entire research process from design through writing illustrated by examples of real complete qualitative work that clearly demonstrates how methods are used in actual practice This updated fourth edition includes all new case studies with additional coverage of mixed methods non sociological settings funding and a sample interview guide The studies profiled are accompanied by observation field notes and the text includes additional readings for both students and instructors More than just theory this guide is designed to give you a real world practitioner s view of how qualitative research is handled every step of the way Many different disciplines rely on qualitative research as a method of inquiry to gain an in depth understanding of human behavior and the governing forces behind it Qualitative research asks why and how and the data is frequently complex and difficult to measure This book shows you how to effectively handle qualitative work regardless of where it s being applied Understand the strengths and limitations of qualitative data Learn how experts work around common methodological issues Compare actual field notes to the qualitative studies they generated Examine the full range of qualitative methods throughout the research process Whether you re studying sociology psychology marketing or any number of other fields especially in the social and behavioral sciences human behavior is the central concern of your work So what drives human behavior That s what qualitative research helps to explain Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods gives you the foundation you need to begin seeking answers Practical Guide to Research Methods Gerhard Lang,1984-04-16 This book attempts to stimulate interest in and to improve the usefulness of the introductory research course or research training workshop by focusing the material on the needs and interests of the neophyte researcher Corporate Social Responsibility and Brand Value in Luxury Ramon Bravo Gonzalez,2017-06-28 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade NA University of Glasgow Adam Smith Business School language English abstract Within luxury an area that is becoming increasingly important due to the visibility of this industry is Corporate Social Responsibility CSR While consumers are still not actively demanding CSR in luxury products and services and there is evidence that CSR is not a key area of interest for the luxury industry the luxury industry is becoming the target of non governmental organizations NGOs and other stakeholders interested in environmental and ethical practices Thus it is essential that luxury companies explore CSR implementation as neglecting to do so is likely to affect their brands and their brand value Due to the increasing relevance of CSR within luxury this research explores the role of CSR within luxury and how it together with other factors contributes to brand value in luxury An additional consideration is that despite the importance of brand value in luxury the industry does not normally measure manage and leverage brand value As a result it is also necessary to examine how brand value is perceived within luxury To meet these research goals a mixed methods approach was selected More specifically a theoretical framework was built with input from the literature and interviews with key interviewees from the luxury industry Then the theoretical framework was tested quantitatively The quantitative analysis was conducted with a dataset based on consumer panels and additional secondary data including Bloomberg CSRHub Dow Jones Sustainability Index DJSI Interbrand and company reports The results were subject to credibility checks with interviewees from the industry It is noteworthy to highlight that for the statistical analysis one of the largest datasets with US consumer data was used Similarly for the qualitative interviews representatives from some of the largest luxury companies in the world in terms of brand value and luxury stakeholders were recruited Research Method and Procedure in Agricultural Economics Social Science Research Council (U.S.). Advisory Committee on Social and Economic Research in Agriculture,1928 NATCON. ,1985 Hamburg vs. Munich: Which City Brand Has the Edge? Lilly Marlene Kunkel,2009-12-03 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2008 in the subject Tourism Miscellaneous grade 1 3 University of Brighton School of Service Management language English abstract The aim of this dissertation was to examine the development of Hamburg and Munich s destination branding strategies and whether German consumers can tell the difference between the two The findings indicated that the overall recognition of Munich among the participants of this study was better than that of Hamburg But it was also found that the recognition of Hamburg is based on more distinct recognition features than that of Munich and therefore it was concluded that it is more sustainable Regarding the branding of Hamburg and Munich it was found that the Hamburg brand is built on the city's core values and already positive organic image whereas the Munich brand was built mainly on artificial emotional values that contradict its rather negative organic image In the direct comparison of the participants' images of the two cities Hamburg's image was found to be far better Together with the finding that the brand communication for Hamburg was more authentic and addressed its target groups more precisely than the brand communication for Munich the above mentioned findings led to the conclusion that the overall branding strategy for Hamburg is more successful than that for Munich
