

CMPS03 - Compass Module

For documentation on CMPS03 revisions prior to Rev14, click here

Earlier versions can be identified by the presence of the silver 8MHz ceramic resonator in the middle of the PCB, this has been removed on new modules.

Rev14 was released March 2007

Overview

This compass module has been specifically designed for use in robots as an aid to navigation. The aim was to produce a unique number to represent the direction the robot is facing. The compass uses the Philips KMZS1 magnetic field sensor, which is sensitive enough to detect the Earth's magnetic field. The output from two of them mounted at right angles to each other is used to compute the direction of the horizontal component of the Earth's magnetic field. We have examples of using the Compass module with a wide range of popular controllers.

Connections to the compass module

- Pin 9 - 0v Ground
- Pin 8 - No Connect
- Pin 7 - No Connect
- Pin 6 - Calibrate
- Pin 5 - Calibrating
- Pin 4 - PWM
- Pin 3 - SDA
- Pin 2 - SCL
- Pin 1 - +5v

Connections

Pin 1, +5v. The compass module requires a 5v power supply at a nominal 25mA.

There are two ways of getting the bearing from the module. A PWM signal is available on pin 4, or an I2C interface is provided on pins 2,3.

Pins 2,3 are the I2C interface and can be used to get a direct readout of the bearing. If the I2C interface is not used then these pins should be pulled high (to +5v) via a couple of resistors. Around 47k is ok, the values are not at all critical.

Pin 4. The PWM signal is a pulse width modulated signal with the positive width of the pulse representing the angle. The pulse width varies from 1mS (0°) to 36.99mS (359.9°) in other words 100uS/° with a +1mS offset. The signal goes low for 65mS between pulses, so the cycle time is 65mS + the pulse width - ie. 66ms-102ms. The pulse is generated by a 16 bit timer in the processor giving a 1uS resolution, however I would not recommend measuring this to anything better than 0.1° (10uS). Make sure you connect the I2C pins, SCL and SDA, to the 5v supply if you are using the PWM, as there are no pull-up resistors on these pins.

Pin 5 is used to indicate calibration is in progress (active low). You can connect an LED from this pin to +5v via a 390 ohm resistor if you wish.

Pin 6 is one of two ways to calibrate the compass, the other is writing 255 (0xFF) to the command register.

Physicomimetics William M. Spears,Diana F. Spears,2012-01-05 Standard approaches to understanding swarms rely on inspiration from biology and are generally covered by the term biomimetics This book focuses on a different complementary inspiration namely physics The editors have introduced the term physicomimetics to refer to physics based swarm approaches which offer two advantages First they capture the notion that nature is lazy meaning that physics based systems always perform the minimal amount of work necessary which is an especially important advantage in swarm robotics Second physics is the most predictive science and can reduce complex systems to simple concepts and equations that codify emergent behavior and help us to design and understand swarms The editors consolidated over a decade of work on swarm intelligence and swarm robotics organizing the book into 19 chapters as follows Part I introduces the concept of swarms and offers the reader a physics tutorial Part II deals with applications of physicomimetics in order of increased complexity Part III examines the hardware requirements of the presented algorithms and demonstrates real robot implementations Part IV demonstrates how the theory can be used to design swarms from first principles and provides a novel algorithm that handles changing environments finally Part V shows that physicomimetics can be used for function optimization moving the reader from issues of swarm robotics to swarm intelligence The text is supported with a downloadable package containing simulation code and videos of working robots This book is suitable for talented high school and undergraduate students as well as researchers and graduate students in the areas of artificial intelligence and robotics
