Lessons from My Mother's Kitchen Ranjini Rao,2020-10-20 When I lost my mother to a long and painful battle with cancer four years ago I was thousands of miles away alone and thick with grief At first everything seemed distant and pale and I went through my days like a robot lead footed and sandy eyed trying to make sense of each moment It took a while but I came to understand that the only way out was through At some point I submitted to the dagger of sorrow as it carved out a hollow in my heart turning me into some sort of an unself conscious sculpted form I re lived all the memories of my mother and gleaned new lessons from them Through the eighteen essays in this book I recount how her food music and stories all the things that she birthed in her spacious sun dappled kitchen helped me cope with long distance grief and taught me to look at life with renewed hope I also present some special recipes straight from Amma s kitchen and a bunch of kitchen poems in her honour finding her in such things as the sizzling of spices the bubbling of flavourful broths or a melodious Raga swirled into my cup of coffee My wish is that this book will come to stand for all this and more a celebration of life and a quiet acceptance of death I hope that it will inspire and touch many those who are going through rough times or those who are simply living the ordinary life for often we forget that there s so much magic in it

Queer Companions Omar Kasmani,2022-03-23 In Queer Companions Omar Kasmani theorizes saintly intimacy and the construction of queer social relations at Pakistan s most important site of Sufi pilgrimage Conjoining queer theory and the anthropology of Islam Kasmani outlines the felt and en fleshed ways in which saintly affections bind individuals society and the state in Pakistan through a public architecture of intimacy Islamic saints become lovers and queer companions just as a religious universe is made valuable to critical and queer forms of thinking Focusing on the lives of ascetics known as fakirs in Pakistan Kasmani shows how the affective bonds with the place s patron saint a thirteenth century antinomian mystic foster unstraight modes of living in the present In a national context where religious shrines are entangled in the state s infrastructures of governance coming close to saints further entails a drawing near to more than official histories and public forms of affect Through various fakir life stories Kasmani contends that this intimacy offers a form of queer world making with saints      Amma kathalu Śēṣāratnaṃ,2002      Triveni ,1965      The National
