International Responses to Gendered-Based Domestic Violence Dongling Zhang, Diana Scharff Peterson, 2023-03-23 This edited volume represents a joint effort by international experts to analyze the prevalence and nature of gender based domestic violence across the globe and how it is dealt with at both national and international levels With studies being conducted in 20 different countries and 4 distinct regions the contributors to this volume shed light on the ways in which contextual particularities shape the practices and strategies of addressing the socio cultural and legal problem of gender based domestic violence in the countries or regions where they do research Special attention is devoted to developing countries where there is a lack of a consistent legal definition of gender based domestic violence and where violence against women is widely considered a private matter The authors of the chapters share a common goal of raising public awareness of the significance in nuanced local experiences of women and other individuals from gender and sexual minority groups facing gender based violence Furthermore the authors attend analytically to the newly emerging overlapping influences of COVID 19 and global warming Their research findings acknowledge and provide a detailed account of how the two ecological and socio economic crises can combine to produce economic devastation disconnect victims from necessary social services and assistance and create a large degree of panic and uncertainty In addition they intend to offer insights into next steps to not only adjust existing public policies legislation and social services to the ever changing national and global contexts but also to make new ones The book is intended for a wide range of scholars both professors and students and practitioners in a large number of areas including but not limited to criminal justice criminology law human rights social justice social work nursing sociology and political or public affairs

today in a global arena in which human rights are widely accepted As ratifiers of UN treaties such as the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and the Convention on the Rights of the Child these Pacific Island countries have committed to promoting women s and girls rights including the right to a life free of violence Yet local national and regional gender values are not always consistent with the principles of gender equality and women s rights that undergird these globalising conventions This volume critically interrogates the relation between gender violence and human rights as these three countries and their communities and citizens engage with appropriate modify and at times resist human rights principles and their implications for gender violence Grounded in extensive anthropological historical and legal research the volume should prove a crucial resource for the many scholars policymakers and activists who are concerned about the urgent and ubiquitous problem of gender violence in the western Pacific This is an important and timely collection that is central to the major and contentious issues in the contemporary Pacific of gender violence and human rights It builds upon existing literature but the contributors to this volume interrogate the connection between these two areas deeply and more critically This book should and must reach a broad audience Jacqui Leckie Associate Professor Anthropology and Archaeology University of Otago The volume addresses the tensions between human and cultural individual and collective rights as played out in the domain of gender Gender is a perfect lens for exploring these tensions because cultural rights are often claimed in defence of gender oppression and because women often have imposed upon them the burden of representing cultural traditions in attire comportment restraint or putatively cultural conservatism And Melanesia is a perfect place to consider these gendered issues because of the long history of ethnocentric representations of the region because of the extent to which these are played out between states and local cultures and because of the efforts of the vibrant women s movements in the region to develop locally workable responses to the problems of gender violence in these communities Christine Dureau Senior Lecturer Anthropology University of Auckland

The International Spread of Ethnic Conflict David A.

Lake,1998-03-22 This work focuses on how why and when ethnic conflicts either diffuse by precipitating similar conflicts elsewhere or escalate by bringing in outside parties and how such transnational ethnic conflicts can be managed It focuses specifically on the conflicts in Eastern Europe and Africa Facing Ethnic Conflicts Andreas Wimmer,2004 Ethnic conflict is the major form of mass political violence in the world today and it has been since World War II Dramatic acts of terrorism and calculated responses to them may distract the attention of policymakers and the public but ethnic and nationalist conflict continues to pose the greatest challenge to peace and security across the globe Causes of such conflict and ideas about how to address it are hotly debated in the literature that has emerged over the past fifteen years This volume offers a unique overview of research and policy approaches to ethnic conflicts It is the first book to bring together experienced policymakers and key scholars from all disciplines They debate how to best understand the rise and escalation of ethnic conflict assess different strategies for peacemaking mediation and reconciliation and evaluate the prospects for conflict management through institutional design In contrast with a more enthusiastic assessment of the willingness and capacity to successfully intervene in ethnic conflict this volume documents the new realism that has emerged over the past decade It recognizes the complex and protracted nature of such conflicts and demands a multifaceted case by case approach sustained by long term political engagement Published in co operation with the Center for Development Research University of Bonn Women, Peace and Security Funmi Olonisakin,Karen Barnes,Eka Ikpe,2010-11-01 This book provides a critical assessment of the impact of UN Resolution 1325 by examining the effect of peacebuilding missions on increasing gender equality within conflict affected countries UN Resolution 1325 was adopted in October 2000 and was the first time that the security concerns of women in situations of armed conflict and their role in peacebuilding was placed on the agenda of the UN Security Council It was an important step forward in terms of bringing women s rights and gender equality to bear in the UN s peace and security agenda More than a decade after the adoption of this Resolution its practical reality is yet to be substantially felt on the ground in the very societies and regions where women remain disproportionately affected by armed conflict and grossly under represented in peace processes This realization in part led to the adoption in 2008 and 2009 of three other Security Council Resolutions on sexual violence in conflict violence against women and for the development of indicators to measure progress in addressing women peace and security issues The book draws together the findings from eight countries and four regional contexts to provide guidance on how the impact of Resolution 1325 can be measured and how peacekeeping operations could improve their capacity to effectively engender security This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding gender studies the United Nations international security and IR in general Conflict, Security, and Development World Bank,2011 The WDR 2011 draws together lessons from national reformers escaping from repetitive cycles of violence Ethnic Conflict In World Politics Barbara Harff,2018 This second edition of Ethnic Conflict in World Politics is an introduction to a new era in which civil society states and international actors attempt to channel ethnic challenges to world order and security into conventional politics From Africa's post colonial rebellions in the 1960s and 1970s to anti immigrant violence in the 1990s the authors survey the historical geographic and cultural diversity of ethnopolitical conflict Using an analytical model to elucidate four well chosen case studies the Kurds the Miskitos the Chinese in Malaysia and the Turks in Germany the authors give students tools for analyzing emerging conflicts based on the demands of nationalists indigenous peoples and immigrant minorities throughout the world The international community has begun to respond more quickly and constructively to these conflicts than it did to civil wars in divided Yugoslavia and genocide in Rwanda by using the emerging doctrines of proactive peacemaking and peace enforcement that are detailed in this book Concludes by identifying five principles of international doctrine for managing conflict in ethnically diverse societies The text is illustrated with maps tables and figures Provided by publisher Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict Karl Cordell, Stefan Wolff, 2010-10-18 A definitive global survey of the interaction of race ethnicity nationalism and politics this handbook blends theoretically grounded rigorous analysis with empirical illustrations to provide a state of the art overview of the contemporary debates on one of the most pervasive international security challenges today The contributors to this volume offer a 360 degree perspective on ethnic conflict from the theoretical foundations of nationalism and ethnicity to the causes and consequences of ethnic conflict and to the various strategies adopted in response to it Without privileging any specific explanation of why ethnic conflict happens at a specific place and time or why attempts at preventing or settling it might fail or succeed the Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict enables readers to gain better insights into such defining moments in post Cold War international history as the disintegrations of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia and their respective consequences and the genocide in Rwanda as well as the relative success of conflict settlement efforts in Northern Ireland Macedonia and Aceh By contributing to understanding the varied and multiple causes of ethnic conflicts and to learning from the successes and failures of its prevention and settlement the Handbook makes a powerful case that ethnic conflicts are neither unavoidable nor unresolvable but rather that they require careful analysis and thoughtful and measured responses

Handbook of Ethnic Conflict Dan Landis, Rosita D. Albert, 2012-02-14 Although group conflict is hardly new the last decade has seen a proliferation of conflicts engaging intrastate ethnic groups It is estimated that two thirds of violent conflicts being fought each year in every part of the globe including North America are ethnic conflicts Unlike traditional warfare civilians comprise more than 80 percent of the casualties and the economic and psychological impact on survivors is often so devastating that some experts believe that ethnic conflict is the most destabilizing force in the post Cold War world Although these conflicts also have political economic and other causes the purpose of this volume is to develop a psychological understanding of ethnic warfare More specifically Handbook of Ethnopolitical Conflict explores the function of ethnic religious and national identities in intergroup conflict In addition it features recommendations for policy makers with the intention to reduce or ameliorate the occurrences and consequences of these conflicts worldwide
