Series Editor: Margaret Ward

Academic Encounters: American Studies is a content-based reading, study skills, and writing book that introduces students to topics in American history and culture that are relevant to life in the United States today. These high-interest topics include aspects of contemporary politics, society and traditions of immigration and the digital revolution, social justice, the Internet, jazz, and hip-hop and the connection of American culture and traditions from around the world.

The companion book, Academic Encounters: American Studies, introduces students to American history and culture with 28 American study skills, writing exercises and activities and a variety of print and print/digital activities. The topics, which correspond with those in the reading, study skills, and writing book, include core topics, traditional American culture, and activities to introduce and reinforce the global aspects of American life.

Meet the Author

Reading Encounters is an academic preparation series that uses a content-based approach. Encounters was created to be used for each content-based academic encounter only and includes reading, study skills, and writing and an Academic Encounters Preparation kit that introduces and develops students' learning, reading, and discussion skills. The text features easy-to-use, independently-useful, or they can be used together to form a complete encounter/skills course.

Companion with Standards

Academic Encounters: American Studies introduces students to many of the topics and skills in the United States secondary school standards for American history and social studies.

ISBN 978-0-521-88100-0
