2. Attempt any two parts of the following : (10×2=20)

- (a) A uniformly distributed load of 20 kN/m intensity covering a length of 6 m moves over a simply supported beam of 15 m span. Determine the maximum positive shear force, maximum negative shear force and maximum bending moment at a section located at 5 m from the left support.
- (b) Draw influence line diagram for positive shear force, negative shear force and bending moment at a section 2 m from left support of a simply supported beam of 8 m span. Hence, determine the maximum values of positive shear force, negative shear force and bending moment due to two point loads of 75 kN followed by 150 kN moving from left to right. The distance between the loads is 2.5 m.
- (c) State and prove the propositions used for several point loads moving over a simply supported beam.

3. Attempt any two parts of the following : (10×2=20)

- (a) A three hinged parabolic arch has a span of 60 m and a rise of 15 m. The arch is subjected to a point load of 20 kN at 15 m from the left support (hinge). Calculate the reactions and draw bending moment diagram. Also calculate the normal thrust and radial shear at left quarter span.
- (b) A three hinged circular arch has a span of 125 m and a rise of 25 m. It is subjected to a uniformly distributed load of 30 kN/m covering the central half span. Determine the maximum sagging and hogging moments in the arch. Also calculate the thrust, shear and bending moment at quarter span.
- (c) What do you understand by linear arch? Explain briefly. Also write down the statement of Eddy's theorem and prove it.

4. Attempt any two parts of the following : (10×2=20)

- (a) Determine the horizontal and vertical deflection at point F in the frame shown in Fig. 3, using unit load method.

4th Sem Structural Analysis 1:

Structural Analysis-I, 4th Edition Bhavikatti S.S., Structural Analysis or the Theory of Structures is an important subject for civil engineering students who are required to analyze and design structures. It is a vast field and is largely taught at the undergraduate level. A few topics like Matrix Method and Plastic Analysis are also taught at the postgraduate level and in structural engineering electives. The entire course has been covered in two volumes: Structural Analysis I and II. Structural Analysis I deals with the basics of structural analysis, measurements of deflection, various types of deflection loads and influence lines, etc. Dilute Magnetic Semiconducting (DMS) Materials R. Saravanan, 2018-08-25. Diluted Magnetic Semiconductors (DMS) play a vital role in the modern electronics industry. It is important to understand the fundamental properties of these materials in order to apply them to their full potential. This book presents an analysis of the charge density distribution and other properties of some silicon and germanium-based diluted magnetic semiconductors. A quantitative analysis of the charge density distribution has been done in order to obtain measurements of the charges involved in the bonding, which are decisive for the physical and chemical properties of the DMS materials. Also, the local structures of the materials have been analyzed by studying their powder X-ray diffraction intensities. Analysis of the magnetic properties of the DMS materials is mandatory and has been accomplished by magnetic measurements carried out using a vibrating sample magnetometer. The morphology of the DMS materials has been studied using scanning electron micrographs.
