1. Some of the precipitation that falls on land seeps into the ground where it is stored in aquifer and is transported to streams and lakes by subsurface flow.
2. The amount of infiltration is influenced by the permeability and moisture content of the soil, the presence of vegetation and the volume and intensity of precipitation.
3. Large particles have large spaces between them and let more water in and large rain events can lead to more infiltration on the amount of water stored in the aquifer.
