

04 Spaces

Connection of the inner being of the child to the infinity is an essential element of Education in Aureville.

The curved roofs gradually rise up to bring the sky inside, to connect the eye to the sky and invoke spiritual connection. The trusses elevating the roof are elements to hang works of children and this way the building itself becomes part of the play. Inside the classrooms the walls are plastered and take a backseat, allowing the child to speak. The child's connection to landscape is ensured by large openings and low window sills. Small scaled open spaces are integrated in the flow of built spaces.

Activity Plan

The corridor forms a continuous band of activities like an internal street and surrounds the central courtyard. Here, the division of children by age ends and what pulls them together is their interest in a common activity.
