WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—President John F. Kennedy today ordered a naval blockade of Cuba to prevent the island from receiving Soviet nuclear missiles and other weapons.

The president's decision, announced in a televised address, was a direct response to the discovery of Soviet nuclear missile bases in Cuba. Kennedy said that the United States would not permit the further shipment of nuclear weapons to Cuba.

The blockade, which will be enforced by the U.S. Navy, is a test of the will of both the United States and the Soviet Union. Kennedy said that the United States would sink any Soviet ships that attempt to break through the blockade.

The president also announced that he would cancel all campaign trips for the remainder of the year. He said that the United States must first deal with the crisis in Cuba.

The news of the blockade was met with surprise and concern in the Soviet Union. Soviet officials said that they would not allow the United States to interfere with their right to trade with Cuba.

The crisis in Cuba has brought the world to the brink of nuclear war. The United States and the Soviet Union are now in a tense standoff, and the world is watching to see how the crisis will be resolved.
