Death and the Dervish Mesa Selminovic,1996 Sheikh Nuruddin is a dervish at a Sarajevo monastery in the eighteenth century during the Turkish occupation When his brother is arrested he descends into the Kafkaesque world of the Turkish authorities in order to find out what has happened As he does so he begins to question his relations with society as a whole and eventually his life choices in general Hugely successful when published in the 1960s Death and the Dervish appears here in its first English translation Death and the Dervish Meša Selimović,1996 Sheikh Nuruddin is a dervish at a Sarajevo monastery in the eighteenth century during the Turkish occupation When his brother is arrested he descends into the Kafkaesque world of the Turkish authorities in order to find out what has happened As he does so he begins to question his relations with society as a whole and eventually his life choices in general Hugely successful when published in the 1960s Death and the Dervish appears here in its first English translation The Fortress Meša Selimović,1999 The Fortress is one of the most significant and fascinating novels to come out of the former Yugoslavia Ahmet Shabo returns home to eighteenth century Sarajevo from the war in Russia numbed by the death in battle or suicide of nearly his entire military unit In time he overcomes the anguish of war only to find that he has emerged a reflective and contemplative man in a society that does not value and will not tolerate the subversive implications of these qualities The Sound of Poetry / The Poetry of Sound Marjorie Perloff,Craig Dworkin,2009-10-15 Sound one of the central elements of poetry finds itself all but ignored in the current discourse on lyric forms The essays collected here by Marjorie Perloff and Craig Dworkin break that critical silence to readdress some of the fundamental connections between poetry and sound connections that go far beyond traditional metrical studies Ranging from medieval Latin lyrics to a cyborg opera sixteenth century France to twentieth century Brazil romantic ballads to the contemporary avant garde the contributors to The Sound of Poetry The Poetry of Sound explore such subjects as the translatability of lyric sound the historical and cultural roles of rhyme the role of sound repetition in novelistic prose the connections between sound poetry and music between the visual and the auditory the role of the body in performance and the impact of recording technologies on the lyric voice Along the way the essays take on the ensemble discords of Maurice Schoenberg's Die Erde Ezra Pound's use of Chinese whispers the alchemical theology of Hugo Ball's Dada performances Jean Cocteau's modernist radiophonics and an intercultural account of the poetry reading as a kind of dubbing A genuinely comparatist study The Sound of Poetry The Poetry of Sound is designed to challenge current preconceptions about what Susan Howe has called articulations of sound forms in time as they have transformed the expanded poetic field of the twenty first century Islam and Contemporary European Literature Carool Kersten,2025-06-30 This book uses literary texts featuring themes and references related to Islam and the Muslim world to offer new perspectives on non Western intellectual history and contemporary European literature Shifting from abstraction to sublimation by highlighting individualized interpretations of religion by authors from both Muslim and non Muslim backgrounds it asks how and why present day European authors from Albania France Germany Spain and the former Yugoslavia write fiction or fictionalized works that engage with Islamic religious themes and Europe's Islamic past This thematic focus contributes to the interrogation of Eurocentric understandings of literary canons and points out ways of decolonizing the curriculum in the humanities by reading contemporary European literature through the lens of cosmopolitanism cultural hybridity and in betweenness

Transnational Cinema and Ideology Milja Radovic,2014-06-13 Increasingly as the production distribution and audience of films cross national boundaries film scholars have begun to think in terms of transnational rather than national cinema This book is positioned within the emerging field of transnational cinema and offers a groundbreaking study of the relationship between transnational cinema and ideology The book focuses in particular on the complex ways in which religion identity and cultural myths interact in specific cinematic representations of ideology Author Milja Radovic approaches the selected films as national regional products and then moves on to comparative analysis and discussion of their transnational aspects This book also addresses the question of whether transnationalism reinforces the nation or not one of the possible answers to this question may be given through the exploration of the cinema of national states and its transnational aspects Radovic illustrates the ways in which these issues represented and framed by films are transmitted beyond their nation state borders and local ideologies in which they originated and questions whether therefore one can have an understanding of transnational cinema as a platform for political dialogue
